Bay St. Louis budget faces $92,000 overrun

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Bay St. Louis could go $92,000 over budget according to a report made Tuesday by Kelly McQueen, city clerk. In a letter to the council, McQueen said, "... Based on work sheets I have prepared today, I find it necessary to inform you of the status of the general fund. I anticipate the city to spend approximately $92,000 more than budgeted for this fiscal year."
"This represents over nine percent of our operating budget..." the city official continued.
Council President Pete Benvenuti immediately made a motion instructing Mayor Larry Bennett to curtail expenses for the next two months. The motion was unanimously passed.
McQueen's letter indicated the overrun on expense should have never happened because, "... In an effort to eliminate this type of budget overrun, considerable time and effort was spent by the mayor, city council and myself in preparing last year's budget. Therefore, I can see no reason for this problem to occur..."
McQueen said Wednesday that three departments are in good shape and in line with their budget if they continue to operate as they have in the past ten months. The three departments in good shape are the fire and tax departments and building inspector's office, according to McQueen.

McQueen's report further stated, "... I respectfully request that all expenditures be curtailed for the next two months to eliminate part of this anticipated overrun. Unless this is done, it will be necessary to borrow money to operate the first three months of the next fiscal year..."

The fiscal year runs from Oct. 1st through Sept. for Bay St. Louis. In other money matters, McQueen was authorized to accept a proposal by Moore and Powell, certified public accountants, to audit the utility and city funds. The proposal quote was $4,050 for utility and 7,400 for city funds audit. The audits are to be completed by Dec. 16, 1980 according to McQueen or the auditing firm agrees to pay $50 per day for being late if everything is supplied on a scheduled requested by Moore and Powell.

McQueen received permission to use office help on the items the auditing firm said could be supplied and save $1,800 for the city. Overtime for the work would be less than $1,000 McQueen said.

Spanish Acres toddler critical

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A 16-month-old Spanish Acres boy who apparently fell into a pool while following older youths is in critical condition in a New Orleans hospital, according to Bay Police Chief Douglas Williams.

The police chief said his office received a call at 7:04 p.m. Tuesday reporting the incident as happening at a pool at 106 Eleans Court, Spanish Acres Subdivision.

Williams said, "The boy was reportedly found by neighborhood youths. A neighbor, Bob Brack, started CPR and was relieved by Bay St. Louis Fireman Ann Peniguy who administered CPR until Mobile Medic arrived."

The young boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Groves, 609 Spanish Acres Drive, according to police who said the child was taken to Hancock

General and later transferred to Ochsner's in New Orleans.

Bay investigator Matt Karl, Patrolman Gordon Campbell and Captain Mike Willimitus of the Bay Fire Department were among those at the scene.

Ten testify for DA

Holliman asks mistrial in Moran murder case

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
After hearing testimony from 10 witnesses, District Attorney Albert Necaise of Gulfport Wednesday rested the state's case against County Election Commissioner Edgar E. (Pete) Moran. The Catahoula Community resident is on trial in the Hancock County Courthouse this week, charged with murdering Coast Electric Engineer Curtis (Chopper) Holliman of Bay St. Louis.

The murder trial enters its fourth day today in Bay St. Louis.

Holliman was found dead in a Coast Electric pickup truck near the Cuevastown and Horseshoe Roads intersection in Catahoula on Aug. 14, 1979.

The Coast Electric engineer apparently died from a 25 caliber bullet head wound allegedly inflicted by Moran.

Place Three Circuit Court Judge Kosta E. Vlahos of Biloxi overruled a second motion by Defense Attorney Boyce Holliman of Gulfport for a mistrial Wednesday morning.

Tuesday afternoon Holliman made his first motion requesting a mistrial after former Sheriff Sylvan Ladner revealed previously unknown comments made by Mrs. Edgar E. (Barbara) Moran.

Vlahos also overruled subsequent motions by Necaise requesting address information to subpoena Barbara Moran for testimony.

The former sheriff testified, "At 12:01 p.m. the dispatcher received a call from Denford Ladner (a Coast Electric employee) that there was a shooting on Cuevastown Road."

"While driving from Bay St. Louis we received a call from the dispatcher when we were near the I-10 and Hwy. 603 interchange. The dispatcher said Pete Moran called and he wanted us to come down to his house," Sylvan Ladner stated.

"When we arrived Denford Ladner told us he was working in that section and saw Pete Moran standing by the truck and Moran said he killed Chopper. He asked Ladner to take the gun and he (Denford Ladner) would not," Ladner said.

The former sheriff said he and the then Chief Investigator Ronald A. Peterson found Holliman dead in the truck and for approximately 20 minutes checked the area for evidence.

"We then drove to Moran's house where his daughter and a son were sitting on the porch. Moran said he shot Chopper and the gun used was in the glove compartment of his car," Sylvan Ladner explained.

"We found a 25 caliber Titan automatic pistol containing two unspent shells," he said.

"We informed him of his rights, but Moran said he wanted to talk to us. Moran said Chopper had run and his daughter (who were in an automobile) off the road, he got in an argument and Holliman tried to hit him with a stick," Sylvan Ladner reported.

"He said he shot twice," the former sheriff added.

"Moran said he brought his daughter home, and went back and shot Chopper," Sylvan Ladner stated.

The former sheriff said he stayed at Moran's house for about 30 minutes, put Moran in the patrol car and returned to the murder scene.

Sylvan Ladner said when they returned to the scene a woman he believed was Barbara Moran yelled from the steps of a nearby house, "Yea, you said you were going to shoot him, now are you satisfied?"

Defense Attorney Holliman showed the former sheriff a sheriff's report on the investigation, and asked why that statement was not included.

Sylvan Ladner replied, "I didn't put everything in the report, it's just a resume of the case."

At the request of both attorneys, Vlahos ordered the jury out of the courtroom.

The defense attorney stated, "We will move the court on a mistrial based on statements made in the presence of the defendant and statements the defendant had no knowledge of."

"We would also recommend that the court disregard these comments," Holliman added.

Necaise replied, "The defense attorney has embellished how concerned Barbara Moran was for Holliman. This would show evidence toward malice in this case..."

Anderson appoints chairman

The State campaign headquarters for the National Unity Campaign For John Anderson has announced the appointment of Fred Ashmead, 33, of Long Beach as chairman of Anderson Campaign in the Fifth Congressional District.

Ashmead, a former teacher at the Turkey Creek Alternative School in Harrison County, is publisher and editor of Educational Dimensions, a weekly educational paper on the Coast.

He is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi and resides with his wife, Dr. Donna Ashmead, son Thomas, and daughter Channing at 209 Alverado in Long Beach.

The Anderson Campaign is in the process of acquiring signatures on petitions to place the candidate name on the November, 1980, ballot in Mississippi.

Ashmead is an independent candidate for elector pledged to Anderson.

Residents of the Fifth Congressional District can volunteer by contacting the state campaign office in Jackson or Ashmead in Long Beach at 601-864-8256.

Navy oceanographers discover central Gulf water phenomenon

The Naval Oceanographic Office located at the National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County, recently found an area of abnormally cold water near the center of the Gulf of Mexico.

NAVOCEANO personnel observed this unusual feature during routine analysis of infrared satellite imagery obtained through the Defense Meteorological Satellite Program.

To investigate this discovery, NAVOCEANO scientists boarded a P-3C aircraft from Patrol Squadron 49 out of Jacksonville, Fla. and flew out to obtain more information on the phenomenon.

Upon reaching the site, airborne expendable bathythermographs were dropped at specific locations in and around the feature.

The AXBTs provided a temperature profile of the water column from the surface to a depth of 304 meters (1000 ft.).

The feature consisted of a core of cold water within the northern perimeter of a Loop Current (see figure). The Loop Current is part of the usual circulation pattern in the Gulf.

The current begins in the Yucatan Channel, flows clockwise around the eastern basin of the Gulf, then out through the Florida Straits as the Florida Current, a major contributor to the Gulf Stream system.

NAVOCEANO reports "its quick and comprehensive response to the discovery of this cold water anomaly attracted the attention of several other federal agencies."

"The National Marine Fisheries Service at NSTL plans to study the anomaly's effects on the local fisheries," a NAVOCEANO spokesman said.

"In some instances an isolated core of water acts like a net surrounding and compacting certain species of fish or shrimp," the spokesman added.

"The National Weather Service, with an office in Slidell, is watching to see how the feature will affect fog and storm patterns in the near future," NAVOCEANO reports.

It is well known that the heat exchange between water bodies and the atmosphere sets up many meteorological conditions," the spokesman said.

"The Satellite Field Service in Miami, part of the National Environmental Satellite Service, is interested in comparing satellite imagery and temperature profiles in hopes of refining the techniques necessary to discover and map similar oceanic features," the spokesman concluded.

Engineer reports favorably on Bay Small Cities project

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The work on the Bay St. Louis 1979 Small Cities Project is moving ahead of schedule, according to Joe Brown III, Brown Engineers, Inc.

Brown reported that the $191,965 contract on the updating of the water and sewer systems in the 500 blocks of St. John, Main, State and DeMontblain are ahead of schedule.

Brown said, "The contractor has laid interceptor lines from Main Street to State Street and a mainline sewer on State. The pump station liner is installed."

"The residents of the affected area have indicated no displeasure with the work," Brown commented.

The engineer indicated the work was 22 percent complete and the contractor was ahead of schedule and would resume work as soon as the rain ended.

Brown also presented a letter to the Council stating reasons he felt the contractor should not be paid compensable damages by the city due to the failure of providing the necessary easements.

The city had acquired a portion of the easements before work began on the construction.

Brown's reasons in his letter were:

1. "The Contractor had easements available to him sufficient to prevent delays in his work."
2. "The Contractor was aware that the easements in question had not been secured, had been allowed to commence work without these easements at his request and therefore had no reason to plan his work so as to encounter the delay cited."

A note was read to the Council from Ronnie Murray, administrator of the 1978 Small Cities Project, stating that the amount of the final payment to Beta Construction was $478 and payment should be made upon the engineer's recommendation.

Brown, also engineer for the 1978 project, said he felt the Council should pay only when they felt satisfied.

After a lengthy discussion, council agreed to pay $300 and hold the rest until they heard from the contractors insurance company.

It was revealed that Mayor Larry Bennett had received a letter from the insurance company but he was not present at the meeting.

A proposal from James Chiniche on the installation of culverts under Washington and Citizens Streets and related work to relieve drainage problems in Spanish Acres Subdivision was deferred until the city is in a better financial position.

Omer DeBeaver was approved as a field engineer for the Windmill Project for a total of $1,000 for the five units in the city.

In other actions Council took under study two recommendations by the Planning and Zoning Commission on changes of Zoning on two properties. One location is the former Globe Laundry and the Star Theatre being changed to a convenience store. The laundry building to be used for a small electrical motors repair shop.

A lengthy discussion was held and it was suggested the zoning requests be checked out to see what status the areas are now.

Council closed the meeting at 8:15 p.m., a record for regularly scheduled meetings.

Murder case.....

Holliman said, "The more strenuously he presses this point, the more we should be advised to call a mistrial."

"If the defense could have had Barbara Moran here we could have been prepared to answer these accusations and Pete Moran didn't even hear these statements," Holliman said.

Necaise replied, "She had to make the statement to the defendant because the sheriff said she made the statement while Pete Moran was in the patrol car."

Holliman stated, "To make me object to this in front of the jury would be damaging to our case. The sheriff has come out and said this statement."

"A prosecutor can't ambush a defendant," Holliman added.

Vlahos then overruled the mistrial motion.

Necaise said Moran's son was served a subpoena for his mother in Florida, but it was later learned she is working for a law firm in Atlanta.

"In fact, the defendant went out and ate dinner with Barbara," the district attorney reported.

"Does this mean we can use the wife of the defendant to testify against the defendant? Could the court request this if she had dinner with the defendant in the last five months? Could we get the address and telephone number of Barbara Moran," Necaise asked?

"We believe the wife can testify if the family circle is broken," he added.

Vlahos replied, "I will study the matter."

Holliman stated, "Statements by Barbara Moran are grounds for mistrial. She has been on the witness list for months."

Necaise said, "I'd like to call Peterson and show he attempted to talk with Barbara Moran."

When the jury returned to the courtroom Vlahos instructed, "The statements made regarding an outcry by Barbara Moran are supposed to be disregarded as evidence."

Necaise said, "The state takes exception to the ruling."

After court recessed Tuesday afternoon Vlahos said that his earlier ruling would not change.

Prior to the judge's final decision, Necaise argued that Barbara Moran's phone number should be revealed because a divorce is pending."

Holliman reported, "My client says the divorce has been dropped, and his attorney in this matter is Randall Jones (of Pass Christian)."

Necaise explained, "We feel we should have the address and phone number of Barbara Moran and get her here. If there was a divorce filed and she's gone off and left the children with Pete Moran, then we believe the marriage has broken down."

"If she does not want to testify, that's a different problem," he added.

In striking the former sheriff's testimony, the judge stated, "According to the 'Merritt Case' we should not enter any derogatory remarks. Does the defendant object?"

Holliman replied, "I don't think we should be required to answer and I object."

The judge explained, "Even if Barbara Moran wanted to come back she could not testify."

Necaise reiterated, "The divorce was pending and the family circle is broken down."

Holliman said, "There's a chance the family may survive."

Vlahos stated, "The only instance where a wife could testify would be if the wife already got a divorce."

Necaise said, "There's a divorce filed and there's a ruling of the court."

Holliman reported, "I think the defendant is upset." Vlahos stated, "The court has ruled" in ending further discussion on the admissibility of Sylvan Ladner's testimony.

In other Tuesday testimony, Peterson reported the same basic information Sylvan Ladner conveyed regarding the events of Aug. 14.

However, Peterson added, "We did a crime scene investigation and found two empty projectiles and three rounds not fired on the ground on the driver's side of the truck."

Peterson identified the spent shells and bullets which were introduced as state evidence.

Sheriff's Dispatcher Melva Necaise also similarly recalled her role on Aug. 14 and confirmed Pete Moran was treated for injuries.

She stated, "Deputies Delbert Seay and Alvin Ladner brought in Pete Moran. State Highway Patrolmen Hershall Ladner and Mike Cox were also driving behind them to make sure they were safe."

"They made a stop at Dr. John Levens' office in Waveland," Ms. Necaise reported.

Holliman asked, "After Pete Moran got back to the sheriff's office you talked with him?"

Ms. Necaise replied, "I went to see what he wanted. I saw he had a bandage on the right arm and had a bruise on his forehead."

Coast Electric engineer David Wiggins helped move Holliman's body from the floorboard to the seat of the victim's truck.

"We were on Hwy. 43 when we heard the truck's radio key," Wiggins reported.

Wiggins said when he and several other Coast Electric employees arrived at the murder scene Holliman was on the floorboard of the truck with the truck's radio microphone clamped in his hand.

"I took the microphone out of Chopper's hand and disconnected the radio," Wiggins stated.

Jervis Moran, Pete Moran's brother, stated he had eaten dinner once with Barbara Moran and Holliman at a Jourdan River camp he believed belonged to Holliman.

Jervis Moran also reported he attended an election victory party for Peterson in Bay St. Louis where Holliman and Barbara Moran were present.

However, testimony by Peterson indicated that Peterson did not have a victory celebration until after Holliman's death.

SOME BENEFITS OF AGE
If you want more house for your dollar, you have good cause to look over older homes. But there are other good reasons for shopping the old ones too. For one thing, there are simply more old houses than new ones. For every new house that will go up this year there are some 45 existing homes already on the market. Many older homes, especially those built before World War II, offer more abundant space than new homes do - a special attraction if you have a large and growing family, but a limited budget. Most old homes are in well-established, well-developed neighborhoods. There will be no waiting for streets to be paved, sewers to be connected or schools to be built. All that is going to grace the neighborhood is probably already there, so that worrying about the future will have been done for you already. If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at PRESSMAN REALTY, 1332 Hwy. 90 W., Waveland. Phone 467-2224. We're here to help!

DO-IT-YOURSELF PROBATE
Because the settlement of many estates where wills are properly prepared do not present legal problems, many citizens today want to see Mississippi join other states that are removing obstacles in the path of citizens who desire to probate their deceased' will without the services of an attorney.

At the fore of the push for taking some of the red tape out of will probate is a Mississippi farm widow and former school teacher who has done her homework on the subject and wants others to join in asking the Mississippi legislature to move enabling legislation beyond a judicial committee where it has been held up.

Mrs. Melba Parker has brought the plea for citizens rights to Jackson and a policy-making session of county farm leaders with the result that today the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation is pushing for passage of legislation that will add an informal approach to probate proceedings.

The Warren countian who, with son, continues to successfully operate a beef cattle operation adjacent to the Mississippi River levee, became interested in taking some of the hassle out of estate settlement following the death of her husband, the late F.G. Parker. He died a few years ago with a will properly prepared with his wife and son as beneficiaries. Their estate business was in order and there were no complications, yet they had to go through a lawyer and pay for his services when they were not needed. Soon she found her situation was not unique.

An article in a national magazine on the subject caused Mrs. Parker to contact the state of Wisconsin where another recent widow had started a movement that resulted in a statewide petition bearing 350,000 signatures that spearheaded a probate-reform movement in that state. In 1973 Wisconsin became the first state to allow do-it-yourself probate which Wisconsin Governor Patrick Lucey termed as "a great victory for the individual citizen. No longer does the law assume that the average man or woman cannot handle his or her own personal affairs. No longer is the citizen required, in effect, to pay a legal tax amounting to hundreds or thousands of dollars for a service he wants to perform for himself."

Other states have followed the lead of Wisconsin in providing "informal administration" of any size estates as long as all the heirs agree.

When interviewed by this writer recently on the subject Mrs. Parker said, "I think that the legislature ought to make known to the population of Mississippi that any individual can present a will for probate to the chancery court system of this state—and that a lawyer is not necessary if the individual so chooses."

"Informal administration gives the citizen a freedom of choice. I do not see where it would hinder or take any rights from lawyers. Lawyers should not be favored as they have been in the past. This needs to be cleaned up!"

Less than two years after the Wisconsin legislative reforms were made, more than 400 residents took advantage of do-it-yourself probate. They were aided by specially prepared forms and instructions on probating estates without an attorney.

One fairly typical Wisconsin citizen who had lost her husband from a heart attack had successfully probated his estate in four and one-half months at a cost of about $45. She figured it took about 30 hours of her time.

A major problem states have experienced is hat of getting legislatures, often composed of a high percentage of lawyers, to concede to the citizens.

In the words of Wisconsin Rep. David Berger who spearheaded the probate-reform movement, "In short, the Bar Association had to be dragged kicking and screaming into the 20th century by the average citizen fed up with the fees and the filings and the folderol."

Mississippi's largest farm organization consisting of 135,000 families, wants to see it happen soon, and hopefully easier, in Mississippi.

Bits 'n pieces

The rain has been a thing of beauty for us, it has dramatically reduced the temperature and restored life to so many things. We can never recall seeing folks walking in the rain, and really enjoying it like we have in the past week.

Normally, when it rains, you see people darting in and out of buildings into their vehicles trying to get out of it as fast as possible. We have even observed several people just standing in the rain having conversations as if it weren't raining.

We are happy like so many others to see the change in our weather.

It is very encouraging to see how many of our governmental agencies are concerned in the National Institute of Corrections meeting at the Youth Court on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

We are very glad that Hancock County, Bay St. Louis and Waveland have all been on hand in force to show the unity which we feel to be of utmost importance if we are to secure funds for a new facility.

The conditions of the Hancock County jail are beyond description, and if something is not done soon, may become a historical site.

The governmental agencies do need the support of everyone in the county and we hope all will offer help if only by saying we see the need for a new jail and hope we get a new one.

Our political leaders need us to tell them how we feel on issues. It helps them make many decisions.

We received a telephone call from a person at the courthouse Tuesday saying there is no place for a witness to stay when they are summoned on a trial.

We took a stroll over there and witnesses for the state and the defense were all over the courthouse, just standing around waiting to be called.

It seems to us to be a problem needing looking into, because there are a lot of activities normally going on on the first floor of the county courthouse such as paying taxes, purchasing car tags, registering to vote, and many other normal functions. There should be a designated place for witnesses whenever a case is being heard.

Problems seem to pop up everywhere you go these days. Even the water cooler is on the blink at Bay City Hall.

They have been using one of those coolers you usually see street workers using on the side of a truck.

We hope things do not get so bad that a pitcher pump has to be installed in City Hall.

There may be some folks around who do not remember the pitcher pumps, (by the way I sold many of them as a hardware clerk). Well, they are the ones you had to prime with water and work the handle up and down.

We are glad to see the antenna tower for the sheriff's office has been replaced and hope it is anchored down better this time.

One thing of importance we noted while the tower was down, and that was the fine cooperation from Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police departments in relaying the messages for the sheriff's deputies.

Incidentally, we reported no one was injured when the tower fell last week, but Bay St. Louis Policeman Bud Dennis was hit by the falling structure as he was leaving the Courthouse. Dennis said he did not require medical attention.

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

Tax Relief Now

Easing the tax burden on American families, farms and businesses has been a priority of mine since coming to Congress in 1973.

Lately, you have been hearing a lot about the need for tax relief. The Republicans in Congress have been pushing for reduced taxes for the last three years. Now the Democrats are saying they will propose a tax cut next year.

It is significant to those of us who have been advocating tax reduction for a number of years to now be joined by some who have been quite vocal against tax relief in the past.

I am convinced that an across-the-board tax cut for individuals and businesses will not only provide meaningful financial relief from the heavy tax burden now imposed, but also will stimulate productivity in the private sector of our economy. This increased productivity will, more than anything, create new jobs and economic opportunities to help end the current recession.

Unfortunately, those of us advocating tax relief have not received enthusiastic support in the past from the leaders in Congress, or the White House. In the Senate, for example, the majority has voted against tax cuts, we have offered several times in recent days. And, the President summoned Congressional leaders to the White House to argue his case against an immediate tax cut package.

The administration, on the other hand, has supported new tax revenues which will amount to over $100 billion next year.

Economists report that Americans today are paying more in taxes than on food, clothing and shelter, the basic necessities of life. The tax burden has increased over one third - 34 percent - since the 1973 fiscal year, 179 percent since 1976, and a staggering 233 percent since 1971. Coupled with the sharp rise in inflation, the American taxpayer has actually seen his real income or purchasing power drastically decline during the past decade.

A family of four with an income of $15,000 last year would need earnings of $16,800, or $150 a month more, just to stay even with inflation in 1980.

Inflation also increases the tax burden. The Joint Committee on Taxation calculates that for every one percent of inflation, individual income taxes go up one and a half billion dollars. Thus, an inflation rate of 16 percent this year would impose additional taxes of $24 billion on American citizens.

I do not think that Congress should act lightly by, as the administration suggests, while inflation ravages our purchasing power, industrial growth, agricultural productivity and family living standards.

Perhaps the worst result of no action ultimately would be to see the American people lose confidence in themselves, in their government, and in the future economic health and prosperity of our nation.

This is not without precedent. It happened in Germany after World War I, and to different degrees in other nations in history. People yearning for economic stability and prosperity, often in desperation, embrace unwise solutions.

I am confident the American people have better sense, and a much sounder perspective, than some political leaders give them credit for these days. Heavy taxes, for instance, do not help in the fight against unemployment or the recession.

The time is appropriate for a reasonable, economically sound tax cut. The people of this country need it, and our economy demands it. Such a tax cut should be addressed to these real and highly visible economic factors crying out for attention, and not lost in political bickering among national parties and candidates.

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

Our ad budget is based on a percentage of sales, so if we don't cut back on ads during the recession, how can I justify the higher percentage expenditure? Don't Want To Take Any Chances.

Dear AG: Last week, we discussed why you shouldn't cut back, citing the growth rate of companies who held their ground during the 1974-75 slow down as compared with the companies who pulled back in their promotion. The answer to the second part is a real challenge to management, but there's a very real possibility you can get even more advertising with your promotion dollars.

There are two specific local media representatives to see that you are qualifying for the best space rates. Rates are usually based on volume of ads and/or frequency—so be sure your buying patterns qualify you for the lowest possible rates, thus maximizing your ad dollars.

2) Get all the dealer co-op advertising to which you are entitled. Almost all distributors have co-op plans, which work like this—when you order merchandise you are also given an ad budget and approved print materials. You place the ads with your local newspaper, either as stand alone ads, or in combination with other items. Then, when you are billed by the newspaper at its regular rate, you send a copy of the paid statement to the distributor with whom you are "co-operating."

The distributor will then reimburse you for the agreed upon proportion of the cost—it may range from 25 to 100 per cent, but most often will be 50 per cent.

You may get the reimbursement in the form of credit against future purchases, or simply a direct payment, but it amounts to the same thing.

In most cases using co-op means, in effect, you can cut your dollar cost for the same space by one-half, double the space you are now getting for the same cost, or find a balance between the two that is within your revised ad budget.

Not only do you get the cost sharing benefit, but the ads are frequently more productive than layouts done locally, as they will more than likely tie in with other promotion being done by the manufacturer in other media. But, the real clincher for co-op is a truism we have used before:

You are now paying for co-op advertising—yours if you use it; someone else's if you don't.

So make a note to ask every salesman and manufacturer's representative about their co-op plans. If they try to put you off, delay purchases until they come through. They'll get the message and you'll get the co-op dollars.

ECONOMIC COUNCIL

News

The Mississippi Economic Council today called for a lay state board of education as an essential step in the improvement of the state's public school system.

The appeal came in testimony before the Governance Committee of the Special Committee on Public School Finance and Administration. The special committee was established by the 1980 Legislature with members appointed from the Senate, House, and the public. The committee will report to the 1981 Legislature on solutions to education problems facing the state.

Steve Dickson of Jackson, MEC program director, told committee members that Mississippi and Florida are the only two states which have ex officio state boards of education. Mississippi's education board consists of the secretary of state, attorney general, and state superintendent of education, who serves as chairman.

Dickson questioned the ex officio board's ability to administer a public education system which now involves more than a half million students, has expenses of almost $665 million, and which is expected to continue to grow.

Citing examples, Dickson said that the minutes of the regular monthly board meetings from 1972 to 1979 indicate the board normally handles only routine, day-to-day operations with little attention given to policy making, long-range planning, or measuring results.

Dickson said such problems as uniform financial and administrative procedures, revision of the Minimum Foundation Program for more adequate financing, and policy direction to the state's vocational-technical training programs apparently have been given little attention by the board.

"We believe that a lay state board of education should be able to recognize problems of the nature outlined, and take appropriate action," said Dickson. "And, membership on the board should be by appointment rather than by election."

He told committee members that the question of appointment has been answered in a survey of members of local school boards in the state in which the majority said they would not be candidates in district or statewide elections but would serve if appointed.

TOURISM: A NATIONAL OPPORTUNITY

Since summer is the ideal time for Americans to flock to their favorite beach, state park or other attraction to enjoy the outdoors, I got to thinking the other day about tourism.

I didn't think so much about the kind of tourism where Americans go overseas to spend their time and money, as the kind where Americans spend time in their own country - and invite foreign visitors.

Tourism ranks as one of the top three industries in 48 states, accounting for more than $115 billion annually in expenditures. Tourism provides a substantial number of jobs to women, minorities and young people - besides contributing to the U.S. balance of payment.

Tourism is important to America. Especially with our current energy problems, staying close to home might be an advantage, and I think a way should be found to entice more Americans to vacation in their own country.

One of the problems with this in the past has been the federal government. Various federal agencies and departments have had a hand in the tourism industry, resulting in a disjointed approach to promotion.

Hopefully, that's on the verge of being changed. The House has approved the National Tourism Policy Act, which proposes to coordinate a national tourism policy.

The legislation establishes a tourism council to try to solve federal problems such as inter-agency disputes - which have kept us from reaching full tourism potential. Another board will develop a plan to market and promote the U.S. as a good place for foreign visitors.

Without a doubt, the U.S. can boast of many attractions, and tourism is an area that can help keep people on the job as well as contributing to the U.S. balance of payment.

The cost of the legislation was minimal, but many areas of the country, like the State of Mississippi, could benefit by private industry working hand-in-hand with the federal government in this important area.

Nursing profession may be opportunity for middle-aged

July 24, 1980

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

To the Editor,

The daily newspaper shows that young and middle-aged people find it difficult to get employment.

Yet there is a profession which is in dire need of members and that is the nursing profession.

You can start as a student nurse, and if in financial straits, then a grant from the CETA Program will see you through for the entire year of study. At the end you will be a LPN, a licensed practical nurse.

A few years of college work and practice in a hospital will help you work up to an RN or registered nurse.

In this plea I am talking of nursing in a general hospital. Later, you can branch out into some specialized field.

This type of profession is not an easy one. It is not for the faint-hearted, the irresponsible or the gold bricker.

It takes hard work to prepare and there will be day duty and night duty.

But there are compensations in that you are helping your fellowman, developing and helping yourself and in doing all of this you are serving God.

Why not investigate this profession, especially at your local hospital?

News from the governor's office

The Mississippi Housing Finance Corporation at a recent meeting, announced guidelines for the low interest mortgage loans to Mississippi home buyers.

The loan limit for home purchase was set at a maximum of $60,000 for a single family dwelling.

To qualify for a loan, the borrower's income cannot exceed $30,000 adjusted gross income, excluding $1,000 for each dependent as reflected in the immediate past year's federal income tax return.

For example, a husband, wife and one child could qualify with a maximum combined income of up to $33,000.

All lending institutions in the state are eligible to receive part of the $150,000,000 in revenue bond proceeds to loan to home buyers in their communities.

Announcements are currently being mailed to all such institutions, banks, savings and loan associations, and mortgage lenders.

Participating lenders must return commitment letters to the Corporation by August 18th.

Those lending institutions wishing to participate, who have not received an official notice, should contact the State Bond Advisory Division, Office of the Governor, Jackson, Mississippi.

Robert E. Kennington, chairman of the corporation, stated, "The timetable for issuing the bonds and thereby providing the mortgage funds has been expedited as much as possible. We hope that our bonds can reach the market and sell at a time to provide a home mortgage interest rate of under 10 percent. The funds should be available to the public during October through the state's conventional lending institutions."

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

CROPS NEED WATER

Crops in our area are approaching a critical need for water. If irrigation is available, apply it before plants are too severely drought stressed.

Timing is the key to getting good results from irrigation. Irrigation sometimes does more harm than good when applied near the permanent wilting point.

Begin watering when plants begin to stress and continue watering throughout the rest of the growing season. With overhead sprinklers, add water several times on an "as needed" basis. It may be more difficult to make frequent applications with furrow systems.

If only one or two waterings can be made, application during fruiting usually is most profitable.

SILAGE HARVESTING

Timing of harvest is critical to producing good silage. If silage is too high in moisture, it will drain excessively at the silo and valuable nutrients will be lost. Silage harvested too dry will not pack properly and will spoil.

Corn makes best silage if harvested in the full dent stage or about seven weeks after silks emerge. Grain moisture is about 35 percent and whole plant moisture 60 to 70 percent. Dry weather can shorten the time from silking to harvest as well as the amount of grain.

Harvest sorghum silage when seed in the lower part of the head are in the hard dough stage.

At this time seed color has changed from green to the mature color. Grain and plant moisture are the same as for corn.

The best length of cut is  $\frac{3}{4}$  to  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inch. This is short enough to pack well and long enough for good livestock performance.

After storing silage, cover it to keep air and moisture out and maintain quality.

FRUIT TREES

Take care of your fruit trees and plants this summer. A good management program this summer will insure a good crop and healthy plants next season. Home gardeners who grow blackberries should remove old fruiting canes. This reduces the chance of diseases on new canes.

If you have peach trees, remove mummified peaches from branches and beneath the tree. These mummies are the result of brown rot and should be burned or removed from the area. Summer pruning of peach trees is beneficial.

Dry weather is taking its toll on Mississippi crops, so farmers should try to conserve soil moisture whenever possible. Cultivate shallowly to preserve soil moisture and protect plant roots. If irrigation is available, use it before plants are severely drought-stressed. Irrigation can do more harm than good when applied near the permanent wilting point.

Tom Logue to head hospital association

T.O. LOGUE, JR.
Thomas O. Logue Jr., former administrator of Hancock General Hospital, was installed as chairman of the board of governors of the Mississippi Hospital Association at the final session of the 49th MHA annual management conference in Biloxi June 25-27.

Logue will serve as chairman during the 50th anniversary of the 121 hospital member organization.

A native of Vicksburg, Logue presently serves as chief executive officer for Southwest Mississippi Regional Medical Center in McComb.

Married to the former Joyce Wilson of Greenwood, they have three children.

Logue's educational background includes diplomas from the Vicksburg School of Radiologic Technology and Medical Technology; a B.S. degree from Whitworth College; certificate in Hospital Administration, University of Alabama; MBA, University of Southern Mississippi. He is currently a doctoral candidate from the University of Mississippi.

Additionally, he is a fellow in the American College of Hospital Administrators, the national professional society for those who administer health service facilities and programs.

Logue is a board member of the Mississippi State Board of Health and holds office and membership in numerous civic and professional organizations.

He presently holds the rank of colonel, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the U.S. Army Reserve.

He is a member of the First Baptist Church of McComb, a Sunday school teacher, and choir soloist.

Sam W. Cameron, president of the Mississippi Hospital Association, stated, "This organization of hospitals is extremely fortunate to have a chairman with the versatility and leadership ability of Mr.

Logue. The administration of health care programs is growing more complex daily and this chairman is dedicated to best serving the needs of the patients in Mississippi hospitals."

EPA proposes chemical firm record keeping

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has proposed regulations to require firms that make or process chemicals to keep records and in some cases to report on allegations they receive that the chemicals may have harmed human health or the environment.

Records of any such allegations by workers or the general public would provide government health officials with a significant new source of information on the possible dangers associated with specific chemicals.

"This proposal is important to establishing a systematic mechanism for recording and reporting to EPA allegations that will be of great use to government agencies charged with protecting the health of the American people," said Steven D. Jellinek, EPA Assistant Administrator for Pesticides and Toxic Substances.

"We expect it to serve as an important tool to alert corporate, labor and government officials to potential health and environmental problems caused by chemicals."

Jellinek added, "This proposal also would help create an invaluable historical record of alleged problems involving chemical exposure. It would enable EPA to identify patterns of adverse effects which might otherwise not be noticed for long periods of time; our ability to identify previously unknown chemical hazards would thus be greatly enhanced."

The proposed rules would require that allegations of harm or "significant adverse reaction" received by a company on its employees be kept on file for 30 years; other allegations would be kept for five years.

Types of allegations covered would include those that name a specific chemical or mixture, and those that reasonably implicate such chemicals by naming an industrial process or waste discharge from a specific industrial site. This would include chemical waste disposal sites, which have often posed a threat to health and the environment.

EPA's proposal is primarily concerned with allegations involving long-lasting or irreversible effects on humans or the environment. It would complement requirements already established by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration concerning record of verified occupational injuries and serious short-term health effects.

According to EPA's analysis, approximately 600,000 establishments employing about 20 million workers could be subject to this rule, proposed under the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA).

The proposal applies to manufacturers, processors and some distributors of chemical substances and mixtures. The TSCA definition of "processor" covers anyone who prepares a chemical mixture or substance - including a natural substance - for distribution in commerce after manufacture. Hence, "processors" under TSCA would include manufacturers of such goods as automobiles, paper products or electric components.

The proposed rule exempts from the requirements the Nation's 1.4 million retail distributors, such as department stores and gas stations. Retailers are exempted because their employees generally handle packaged products and, therefore, the potential for harmful exposure is limited. Also, any allegations of harm received by retailers involving brand-name products they sell are generally referred to the products' manufacturers or processors.

The rule proposes procedures for inspecting filed allegations and submitting information on allegations to EPA. The proposal discusses certain situations in which automatic reporting of allegations might be required.

Among these options are to require automatic reporting whenever a company receives three or more allegations on the same chemical within a 12-month period; when an allegation involves a chemical on which EPA has issued a "testing rule" to get data needed to evaluate a chemical's safety; and when an allegation involves serious effects such as cancer, birth defects, mutations or reproductive problems.

EPA believes that some form of automatic reporting requirement is essential to alert the government promptly about potentially serious problems, especially since adverse effects might otherwise not be brought to the attention of health officials. The Agency is therefore soliciting public comments on what automatic reporting requirements should ultimately be established.

EPA encourages comments and suggestions on the proposals from a broad spectrum of interested parties including industry, labor, environmental groups and the general public.

Comments can be submitted to EPA for 90 days after proposal appears in the Federal Register, which will occur within a few days.

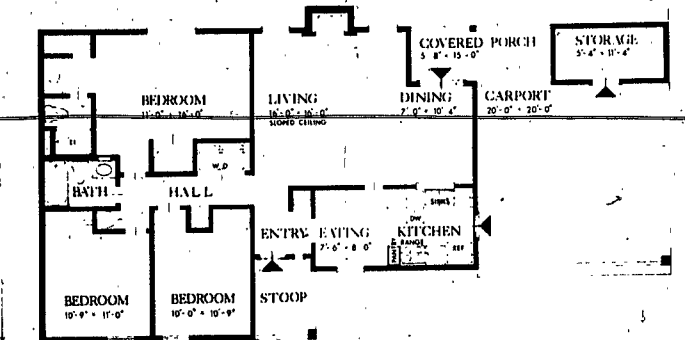

In addition, those wanting clarification on the proposals can request a special meeting with EPA by contacting the Industry Assistance Office toll-free at (800) 424-9665 (in D.C. 554-1404).

Final rules will be issued after EPA considers all comments received.

HOUSE PLAN

Plan No. 280

This delightful ranch-style home utilizes space to the maximum. Entrance is from a covered front stoop through an entry hall to a spacious living and dining area to the rear of the home. The living dining area features a fireplace on the back wall. From the dining area, a sliding glass door leads to a covered porch, which opens to the rear yard. The kitchen and eating area is conveniently located at the front of the home and opens into the double carport. Two bedrooms, with adequate closet space, are located on the quiet side of the home. The master bedroom has a private shower and dressing area. The washer and dryer are located off the hallway behind bi-fold doors. The home, design number 280 has 1,229 square feet of living space, 455 square feet in the carport and storage, 88 square feet in the covered porch and 50 square feet in the covered stoop. The exterior has simple low lines featuring sloped siding. Complete blueprints are available from E. A. Myers, residential designer, 1400 Scott Boulevard, Decatur, Georgia 30030. This plan appears in the sixth edition of the company's plan book.

Decorating Tips

By Linda Forrest, Designer
Hardwood Institute

LIGHT LOOK IS LOOKING UP

In the 1930's, Scandinavian furniture was a particular rage with bleached, almost white or blonde furniture adorning bedroom after bedroom and being considered very chic in living rooms, too. Came World War II and while blonde was still very beautiful, manufacturers switched to more somber tones and that light-hearted fashion became passé.

Well, every style has its rise and fall and today we are seeing a resurgence of designs using native poplar, a very light colored hardwood reminiscent of the '30's. Interestingly enough, one exceptionally talented artist whose furniture was recently displayed in the New Handmade Furniture show in New York, designed a sofa in poplar but utilized a mineral streak in the wood to highlight the yellowish tone of poplar.

What she did was to blend two new trends into one. Mineral streaks, like bird pecks or wormholes, are what the furniture industry calls "character marks." It's nature's way of telling you that trees are living, growing, and changing in an environment that never grants two trees to be exactly alike. Serious furniture designers are recognizing the inherent beauty of nature's handiwork and are learning how to use it to achieve extraordinarily beautiful effects.

And character marked hardwoods are finding great acceptance from the public. In fact, a recent promotional effort pitted two identical chests against each other with the public balloting to select their favorite. One was made of clear hardwoods and the other had character marks. Overwhelmingly, the character marked piece was chosen.

The big question in manufacturing character marked furniture, whether it be walnut, oak, cherry, pecan, or poplar, is that consumers have become accustomed to seeing clear surfaces free of any marks, of any sort. Except in Country French and some of the more rustic styles, character marked woods rarely have appeared. But no more. Furniture manufacturers, who may have been more timid than the public, are showing an enthusiasm that surprises almost everyone. They learn quickly what is appealing and popular, so look for more and more furniture to be made with character marks.

ORDINANCE NO. 133 ORDER PROHIBITING ALL GLASS CONTAINERS PUBLIC BEACHES IN WAVELAND, MS.

There came on for consideration the matter of broken glass on the public beaches of Waveland, whereupon it was moved by Alderman Yarbrough that the following Order be adopted:

ORDER OF THE BOARD OF
MAYOR AND ALDERMAN OF
THE CITY OF WAVELAND PROHIBITING THE TAKING OR CARRYING OF ANY SORT OF GLASS CONTAINER ONTO THE PUBLIC BEACHES OF THE CITY OF WAVELAND.

WHEREAS, the incidence of broken glass on the public beaches of the City of Waveland has steadily been increasing; and WHEREAS, said broken glass has resulted in injury to many persons, particularly children, who utilize the beaches of the City of Waveland;

AND WHEREAS, rather than properly dispose of such items as bottles, jars, and other glass containers, many persons are guilty of breaking such items, or leaving them on the beaches where they subsequently are broken, with the broken shards of glass becoming buried in the sand and presenting an extreme hazard for other users of the public beaches; and

WHEREAS, it appears to this Board that the only means of preventing such occurrences is to prohibit any glass or other breakable containers to be carried or taken onto the public beaches;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT
RESOLVED BY the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Waveland as follows:

1. That the carrying or taking of any bottle, jar, container, or any other item whatsoever made of glass onto any public beach of the City of Waveland is hereby prohibited.

2. That the Chief of Police of the City of Waveland and any and all other appropriate law enforcement agencies be and they are hereby directed to enforce this Order.

3. That the beaches of the City of Waveland be posted with appropriate signs warning of said prohibition.

4. That any person or persons found guilty of violating this prohibition may be considered in contempt of this Order and immediate action may be taken by this Board.

5. That this Order shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

SO ORDERED, by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Waveland, Mississippi, this 14th day of July, 1980.

ATTEST:
Barbara A. Rappold
Secretary

The motion was duly seconded by Alderman Toomey, and having received the unanimous affirmative vote of all Members of the Board, the Mayor declared the motion carried and the order adopted this 14th day of July, 1980.

I, Barbara A. Rappold, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of an Ordinance adopted at a regular meeting held on the 14th day of July, 1980.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT

WEEK ENDING JULY 20 WEATHER SUMMARY
(National Weather Service):
The heat in Mississippi hit its peak early in the week when Corinth and Meridian reported 107-degree readings.
Average temperatures were about five degrees warmer than usual for this time of the year.

During the latter part of the week temperatures moderated somewhat over most of the state and 64-degree minimums were registered at Oxford and Brookhaven.

Rain and thunderstorms came to a few southern locales as early as the 16th.

Before the weekend was over nearly all except the northern third of Mississippi received significant relief from the long dry spell.

The 2.77 inches of rain measured at Wiggins on the afternoon of the 20th was the greatest 24 hour amount reported.

CROP SUMMARY: Early in the week crop conditions

worsened as high temperatures and drought stressed most crops.
However, by week's end rains fell over much of the state helping relieve drought conditions and lowering temperatures.

Soil moisture was very short to short early in the week but had improved to mostly short by week's end.
There were 6.0 days suitable for fieldwork compared to 6.3 days the previous week and 2.6
days for the same week last year.

Soybeans were in fair to good condition with 34 percent of the crop blooming compared to 32 percent last year and 29 percent average. Six percent of the acreage was podding compared to 7 percent last year.

Rice was in good to fair condition with about 11 percent of the crop headed compared to 8 percent a year ago and 10 percent average.

Hay crops were 59 percent harvested compared to 54 percent a year ago and 51

percent average.
corn acreage was in mostly fair condition with 90 percent of the acreage silking compared to 89 percent last year and 85 percent average. The crop was 51 percent in the dough stage and 20 percent dented. Last year 61 percent of the acreage was in the dough stage and 39 percent was dented.

Pasture conditions were mostly fair.

Peaches were 52 percent harvested behind last year's 57 percent and the average of 67 percent.

Watermelons were 41 percent harvested compared to 56 percent last year and 42
percent average.

Corn cut for silage was about 14 percent harvested compared to 17 percent a year ago.

COUNTIES
COAHOMA CO. "The weather is hot; the fields are in need of a good rain. There has been some insect control.
Spider mites are being checked. Cotton insects are being controlled."

GEORGE CO. "Army worms have been found in Bermuda grass pastures and young soybeans."
CLARKE CO. "Showers Wednesday afternoon really helped."

SMITH CO. "The good rain was manna from heaven."
LAWRENCE CO. "Some areas of the county received some much needed rainfall, these areas were spotted. In fact small parts of the county were fortunate enough to get rainfall 2 to 3 days this week."

LEE CO. "Farmers are cutting corn silage early and some farmers are cutting soybeans for hay as a salvage method."

PONTOTOC CO. "Scattered showers or two on Thursday and Friday helped some crops looking really stressed."

Agriculture Today

by Ed Curran
U.S. Department of Agriculture

How would a modern Rip Van Winkle view the current food and farm price scene? Our guess is that he'd probably be flabbergasted!

When he started his snooze, lettuce was 25 cents a head, cabbage was 11 cents a pound potatoes sold for 70 cents for the 10-pound bag. Catsup was 30 cents for the 1 pound bottle, a 10 ounce box of frozen peas sold for 23 cents.

Soda crackers sold for 35
1/2 cents a pound, flour was $1.23 for the 10-pound bag.
Corn flakes sold for 44 cents for the 1 pound box, ice cream was 88 cents for the 1/2 gallon
box. Butter was 90 1/2 cents a pound, margarine was 27 cents. Peanut butter was 56 cents for the 1-pound jar.

Pink salmon was 91 1/2 cents for the 1-pound can, cola was 15 cents for the 12 ounce bottle. Kerosene was 20 cents a gallon, furnace oil was 17 1/2 cents a gallon, gasoline was 34.3 cents a gallon (28.2 cents in bulk, delivered to the farm).
Diesel fuel was 17.6 cents a gallon.

Broilers were 41 cents, hot dogs 17 1/2 cents, bacon 88 cents, pork chops 99 cents a pound. Hamburger sold for 71 cents, round steak, $1.15, the highest price in years. Blue denim jeans were $3.62.

T-shirts sold for $1.00, men's slacks for $9.71. A half gallon of milk went for 60 cents. Coffee was 87 cents a pound, up from 82 cents earlier in the year. A six-pack of beer averaged $1.25. Five pounds of sugar went for 67 1/2 cents, oranges for 65 cents a dozen.

Bananas sold for 17 cents a pound, apples for 21 1/2 cents.

But, farmers were doing well, too. Potatoes were going for $2.24 per hundredweight, baled hay for $24.70 for the ton. Hogs were averaging $25.00 a hundredweight, a lot better than that $17.80
average back in January.

Beef cattle were selling for $25.60 per hundredweight, up from $23.80 earlier in the year.
Broilers were averaging 13.6
cents a pound and would end up the year averaging 15.2 cents, the highest in years. Farmers got an average of 54.6
cents a dozen for eggs in December and 40.0 cents a dozen for the year. Nothing to complain about there.

Dairymen were getting $6.89 per hundredweight—that's almost 12.7 cents a quart! They would average $6.49 per hundredweight for the year (could times ever get better?). Corn was $1.09 a bushel, wheat sold for $1.25.
Soybeans averaged $2.35. That was close to that hoped for $2.40 a bushel that almost every bean farmer wanted.

Now, admittedly this is a story about a modern Rip Van Winkle. And, though the legend says the original Rip Van Winkle slept 20 years, the modern one's snooze was just 10 years. You see, he began his sleep in December 1969.

Extension Agronomist advises cattlemen

Dry and hot weather has reduced pasture growth and stored feed supplies for many Mississippi cattlemen.

With hot, dry conditions
continuing, many producers are questioning steps to take once rain comes, says Dr.
Lamar Kimbrough,
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service agronomist (forages).

Summer perennial grasses,
such as common berm-udagrass, dallisgrass, bahagrass, and the hybrid bermudagrasses recover rapidly following extended dry weather if soil fertility is adequate. Even though some of these grasses may remain in pastures at low levels of fertility, for good plant growth and animal performance, commercial fertilizer is needed. If phosphate and potash have been applied previously, 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre may produce needed forage for late summer pasture or hay, Dr. Kimbrough says.

With summer forage shortages, there may be need for increasing amounts of water of winter annuals for grazing such as ryegrass,

small grains and the annual legumes. Plan for these crops now, he advises cattlemen.
Contacts for fertilizer and seed should be made to give dealers sufficient time to have these available at planting time.

"Needed lime should be applied now," he adds, "since application equipment is often more available during summer. Also, applying lime early gives it some time to react before seeding. This is especially important where forage legumes are to be seeded."

Ladino white clover is the most popular perennial pasture legume for the northern part of the state and for moist soils throughout the state. In north Mississippi, a good combination with fescue is either two to four pounds of ladino, or six to eight pounds of red clover per acre or a combination of these two.

Make sure clover seed are inoculated with the proper nitrogen fixing bacteria and that the newer, improved varieties of clovers are used.
Regal, Tillman, Arcadia and La Si are improved white clover varieties.

CROP REPORT

Winter wheat production in Mississippi, as of July 1, is estimated at 7,750,000 bushels, according to the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Acreage estimated to be harvested for grain as of July 1, at 250,000 acres, was 135,000 acres more than in 1979. Yield per harvested acre, as of July 1, is estimated at 31.0 bushels, compared with 32.0 bushels in 1979.

Corn production is forecast at 5,070,000 bushels based on conditions as of July 1. A crop of this size would be 1 percent below the 1979 production of 5,720,000 bushels. Corn acreage to be harvested for grain, as of June 1, was estimated at 105,000 acres, down 5,000 acres from 1979.
Indicated yield per acre, based on July 1 conditions, is forecast at 54.0 bushels, 2 bushels more than in 1979.

USM is Mississippi's 2nd largest university

According to a recent report in the "Chronicle of Higher Education" another bumper year may be possible at four out of five U.S. colleges and universities in 1980. The report cited applications and deposits received as indicators of the possible increase.

The report also showed that schools in the Southeast are showing a marked student increase compared to other geographic areas.

Officials at the University of Southern Mississippi report that the Chronicle's indicators are holding true. Applications are running ahead of last year and the summer orientation program, Mini Quarter, is showing an increase in attendance and registrations compared to last year.

"Before the start of Mini Quarter sessions this summer, we had well over 100 more students than last year," said Billie Allen, director of High School and Junior College Relations.

"At the present, we have 2,119 registrations compared to 1,843 at roughly the same period a year ago. We have six Mini Quarters left and we usually pick up a few more students in the latter sessions," Allen said.

High School and Junior college students attending Mini Quarter are solid enrollment indicators at USM. Last fall 98 percent of those attending summer sessions returned for fall courses.

According to the Director of Admissions, Charles McNeil, applications are running just over 350 ahead of 1979 figures.

Although USM does not require pre-paid fees or deposits, the Fee For All program, a pay-by-the-month plan for parents of USM students, has remained constant in its second year of operation.

USM officials continue to identify USM's location, diverse academic programs, recruitment and the economy as reasons for continuing enrollment increases.

"When we ask students why they came to USM, we find that the diversity of our academic programs and the possibility of finding a job in a major field of study after graduation is foremost in their minds," Allen said.

If the Chronicle's indicators and those at USM hold up, another record year may be in store. USM registered 10,984 students in the fall of 1979 making it the second largest university in Mississippi.

CANCER Answerline

American Cancer Society

A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to keep you informed about cancer.

Question: "Within the past year, two of my friends have been hospitalized with cancer of the ovary. Is this a new form of cancer? I never heard of it before."

ANSWERline: It is not a new form of cancer, but it has been on the increase during the last two decades. It has become the most deadly form of cancer affecting female reproductive organs. It is most common among women 40 or over, but can occur in old age or even in the age group 10 to 14. The five-year survival rate is only 34 percent partly because there is no simple way to detect it. It can, therefore, spread throughout the body before any symptoms are noticed. The only present method of detection is a periodic health examination with follow-up investigation if the doctor feels any enlargement of the ovary. But the picture is not all bleak: research has (1) developed two anti-cancer drugs that seem to cure even some advanced ovarian cancers and (2) the prospects are good that a test for early detection will soon be perfected.

Question: "Our family has just moved to the Sunbelt from the Northeast. Since I am not used to such strong sunlight so much of the time, I am concerned about the danger of skin cancer, especially for my young children. What can I do to protect us?"

ANSWERline: You are right to be concerned, and there are protective steps to take without living under a rock. Skin cancer is the most common of all cancer; yet, except for a rare and deadly form of the disease called malignant melanoma, the overall cure rate for skin cancer is higher than 90%. Almost all of the 400,000 skin cancers developed annually by Americans are sun-related. The three early warnings of skin cancer are: 1) a sore that does not heal, 2) a change in size or color of a wart or mole, 3) development of any unusual pigmented area. If any of these occur, see your doctor promptly.

To protect yourself from the risk of cancer and other skin damage, keep in mind that the sun's ultraviolet rays are strongest between 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. If possible, avoid exposure during these hours. You can help protect yourself by: 1) applying sunscreen preparations, especially those containing the chemical PABA (para-amino-benzoic acid) which absorbs ultraviolet rays and allows gradual tanning; 2) using a "sun block" such as zinc oxide which deflects the rays and allows no tanning at all. Sun blocking agents are especially useful in shielding lips, noses and other extrasensitive or already burned areas; 3) wearing protective clothing — cool, loose-fitting robes, long-sleeved shirts, wide-brimmed hats. Extra protective precautions should be taken by fair-skinned people, who are more susceptible to the sun's rays than others.

According to a recent radio broadcast sponsored by Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center and Prudential Insurance Company, British investigators have linked traffic accidents and the use of common tranquilizers.

Oxford University epidemiologist David Skegg collected information on prescriptions made out for over 40,000 people and matched this with hospital admissions and deaths from traffic accidents. Dr. Skegg explains his findings: "When we compared the patients given minor tranquilizers with other comparable people in the population, we found that they had a substantially increased risk of involvement in a serious road accident."

This risk was found to be five times normal. Dr. Skegg says this could be explained either by the medical condition being treated by tranquilizers or by the influence of the tranquilizers themselves. "But whichever the explanation, we think it's important that these patients should be aware that they may be at special risk."

Dr. Skegg stops short of saying that all people using tranquilizers should not drive. However, he does stress that tranquilizer users "avoid taking alcohol as well as the tranquilizers, because these drugs can enhance the bad effects of alcohol on driving skills."

Minacapelli's opens preview run of new comedy tomorrow

Minacapelli's Dinner Theater in Slidell reports its hit "Three Goats and a Blanket" will open preview performances Friday night. "Three Goats and a Blanket," written in 1975 by Woody Kling and Robert Hilliard, is a comic romp dealing with marriage, divorce and alimony in a totally irreverent manner. Peter Gabb and Cynthia de Ben are starring in this vehicle, a road version of which is presently touring the U.S. with Mickey Rooney in the lead role.

The play revolves around TV game show producer, Howard Travis and his ex-wife Elinor, to whom he pays $500 a week alimony.

Since Howard agreed to pay her this sum, he has fallen on hard times, and must ask Elinor to cooperate and take less or he will be thrown out of his apartment into the snow.

After obtaining no assistance from his attorney (played by Harold Jeansonne), Howard winds up moving in with Elinor and delightful confusion follows. All ends happily when Howard sells his new game show and he and Elinor begin to enjoy prosperity again. Peter Gabb (Howard) directed the Minacapelli's production of "Dirty Work at the Crossroads" in 1978. Most recently, he played the role of Izzy in "Concrete Cowboy," a CBS movie to be released in the fall.

He has been seen locally in "The Sound of Music," "The King and I" and "West Side Story."

Cynthia de Ben makes her debut at Minacapelli's in the role, she recently performed for Professional Artist's Productions on a three month tour of theatres in Kentucky, Tennessee, and West Virginia.

No stranger to Slidell-area audiences, she has performed in "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," and "Play it Sam."

Harold M. Jeansonne Jr. is making his second appearance at Minacapelli's having performed there in the highly successful "The Odd Couple."

He has also appeared in the films, "Pretty Baby," "Huey Long," and "Murder at the Mardi Gras."

Rounding out the cast are Craig Beron, Blair Ziegler, Dona Emmanuel and Wendell Pierce. Elliott Keener is the director.

"Three Goats in a Blanket" previews July 25, 26, 27 and 31 and opens August 1 for a six week run.

Performance times are 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights preceded by 6:30 p.m. buffet, and 2:30 p.m. on Sunday afternoons preceded by a 1 p.m. buffet.

For reservations, call 504-643-9671 in Slidell. Minacapelli's also offers special group rates.

News Briefs

SGT. J.C. LEMAY

Technical Sergeant Joseph C. Lemay, son of Irma J. Lemay of 241 Washington St., Bay St. Louis, recently participated in Global Shield 80, a Strategic Air Command (SAC) exercise at Minot Air Force Base, N.D.

The exercise was designed to test the ability of SAC forces to react to emergency wartime conditions.

In addition to providing aircrews with realistic training, Global Shield 80 provided training experience for support personnel, including ground and missile crews.

His father, Joseph C. Lemay, resides in Chatahochee, Fla.

'CELEBRATION' JULY 24-26

The fast-paced musical allegory "Celebration" will be presented July 24-26 as the final Summer Showcase production at The University of Mississippi. Performances of the musical, produced jointly by the Department of Theatre Arts and the Department of Music, are scheduled for 8 p.m. in Fulton Chapel on campus. The play is a story of young Orphan's attempt to rescue his orphanage and garden from destruction by corrupt and decadent millionaire Edgar Allen Rich. On his way to meet Rich, Orphan meets Angel, a beautiful, struggling singer, and Potemkin, a world-weary con artist.

Tutoring program needs volunteers

By SHERRY SCHWABACHER
Library Staff

One of the most successful of the on-going programs offered at the Hancock County Libraries is the One-to-One Summer Tutoring Program run by the Friends of the Hancock County Library System.

The program consists of volunteers giving an hour a week to listen to a child read. Children who are having problems in reading often need to keep in practice over the long summer and the One-to-One program offers them the opportunity to do so. But, as always with programs of this kind, there are many more children who need this service than there are volunteers to provide it. There are still quite a few weeks before the start of school and there are children still waiting for a tutor. Maybe you could afford to spend the time to help a child who needs your help. If you are interested in volunteering for the One-to-One Program, please call Esther Oschmann at 467-6033 or call the City-County Library at 467-5282 and ask for Sherry Schwabacher or Prima Wusnick.

Remember, somewhere there's a child waiting for what only you can give - your time!

Federal food program funded again in state

Mississippi's supplemental food program for women, infants and children (WIC) has been awarded $705,916 in additional funds to be used in expanded services during the final three months of fiscal 1980, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service reports.

Mrs. Cherie Morris, Southeast regional director of the WIC program, explained that the amount of money was determined by a negotiated reallocation process in which states documented anticipated increased service for the remainder of the year.

Briefs

DOROTHY CROSBY DAY
Mrs. Dorothy H. Crosby of New Orleans, whose contributions to The University of Mississippi Foundation have spearheaded a $300,000 restoration of Rowan Oak, home of Nobel laureate William Faulkner, will be honored Aug. 3 at The University of Mississippi. Dorothy Crosby Appreciation Day ceremonies will begin at 3 p.m. at Rowan Oak, which will be opened to the public for the first time since the restoration project's latest phase began a year ago.

ALUMNI TO GATHER
Several hundred alumni of University High School at The University of Mississippi are expected in Oxford Aug. 1-3 for a reunion of all former students of the school.

University High School was operated from 1930 to 1963 as a laboratory school for the Ole Miss School of Education and also served as Oxford's high school during the period. It was the first such school in the United States to be directed solely by a university.

Sones plans voice recital
Jon Sones, 19, son of Diana F. Sones of Waveland and James D. Sones Sr., of New Sarpy, La. and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Sones of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Helen Fife of Diamondhead, will give a voice recital on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Waveland Civic Center.

He was also a member of the Boys Choir his junior and senior years and the Quartet his senior year. All these groups are under the direction of Mrs. Peggy Tedford. In his last three years of high school, Sones auditioned and sang in the State Choral Festival.

His senior year, he sang with the All-State Choral Festival, a selective group of high school students. Since graduation, he has been working at Bergeron Marine and studying voice since April under the direction of Elise Beckett of Elise's Studio on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

The WIC program serves pregnant and breast-feeding women, and infants and children up to five years of age. To be eligible, applicants must be at "nutritional risk" because of poor or inadequate nutrition and low income.

Participants receive monthly food packages of infant formula or milk, cereal, eggs, cheese and juice.

Cooking up a Storm

That old-fashioned Southern favorite, Sour Cream Pie, raisin-studded and spice-accented, is one of our family's favorite desserts, with the old recipe from which it's made having been handed down from generation to generation these many years.

I had lost my copy, and couldn't remember just how to make it, but thanks to my younger sister in New Orleans, I'm happily cooking Sour Cream Pie again, since she rediscovered the family recipe in her collection, and passed it on to me. Here's

JANET DALY'S SOUTHERN SOUR CREAM PIE

1 pie shell, baked
1½ cups commercial sour cream
2 egg yolks (reserve whites)
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves, same of nutmeg
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup chopped raisins
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons sugar
The reserved egg whites

In other days the housewife had to sour her own cream, now we skip that stage with the excellent sour cream available at the market. Scald one cup of the cream lightly in a double boiler (or improvise one by setting a smaller bowl or pot inside the larger pot.) Mix together the egg yolks, sugar, spices, flour and remaining cream and add slowly to the hot mixture. Cook for 15 minutes, then add the raisins and vanilla.

When partly cooled, pour into the baked pie crust, your own or ready made. Cover with meringue made from the stiffly beaten egg whites and sugar, and brown in a moderate oven.

Photo finishes highlight Oak Downs Sunday events

(Special to the Sea Coast Echo) Three photo finishes highlighted a short five-race card Sunday at Pearl River's Oak Downs.

The program began when

Bear Gt to Go nipped Turn On the Gas by a nose in the 350-yard first race.

Another bang-bang race followed when three horses were closely bunched at the wire with Jet Import taking the 400-yard test by a head over Bonnie Star.

Becky Reba was a close third, three-quarters of a length behind the winner. Martin Vitran's Stormy Landing remained undefeated in three starts at Oak Downs with an easy victory over Sunny B. Knight in the fifth-furlong third race.

But another close race was in store in the fourth as Ladytwoares owned and trained by Lucille Cameron of Pearl River came from behind to nip Spooky by a nose in a quarter-mile match.

Eddie Zundel, Oak Downs operator announced Sunday that the gate fee per horse has been reduced from $10 to $5.

Sunday's Results

1) 350 yards Bear Got to Go, 18.70, Paul Cooper owner and trainer, JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Turn on the Gas second.

2) 400 yards Jet Import, 21.90, Merlin Marechal, owner and trainer; Mike Keller, jockey. Bonnie Star second. Becky Reba, third.

3) 1/4 mile Stormy Landing, 1:06.4, Martin Vitran; owner; Eddie Guste trainer; Ross Shubert jockey. Sunny B. Knight, 1:07.

4) 440 yards Ladytwoares, 24.75, Lucille Cameron owner and trainer; Mike Keller, jockey. Spooky, second.

5) 350 yards Olympia Joe, 18.80, Mike Luckett, owner; Paul Cooper, trainer; JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Junk Yard Dog, second.

EUROPEAN PRO-Rick Lewis of Waveland returns Sunday to Amsterdam, The Netherlands, to begin training for his second year as a member of that country's Frisot Motor Rollers professional basketball team of the European Basketball Association. Lewis is a graduate of Alcorn State University where he was a three-year all American in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. He previously was drafted by the Seattle Supersonics and tried out with the New Orleans Jazz, but is currently achieving his best professional years with the European league in which his team placed fifth last year. Lewis ranked third in scoring and fourth in rebounds among Holland's pro cagers last year. He worked this summer as a volunteer with the Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Department. BETTER FISHING METHODS
Everyone's heard of "fisherman's luck." That's what the other guy always has if it's good, and what you have if it's bad.

Some fishermen are more successful than others but it isn't because of "luck."

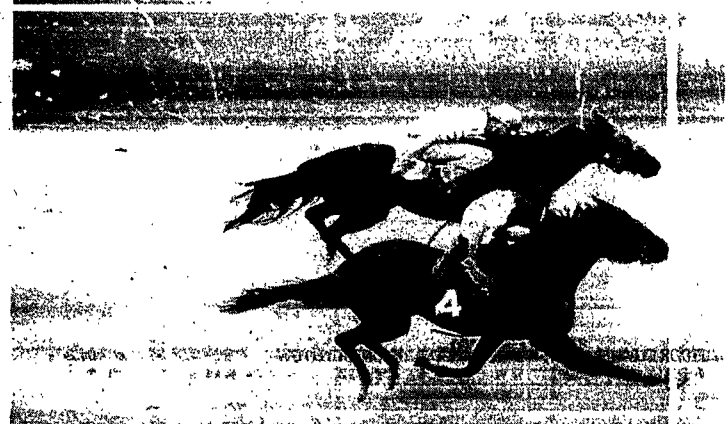

Like any other activity, knowledge and techniques are important factors of success.

For those fishermen who always come home empty-handed, and for those who are new to the sport of fishing, here are some tips from Mercury outboards' fishing experts which can improve your angling success.

One of the best ways to enhance your catch is to learn one body of water extremely well.

Choose several different habitat situations on one lake or stream and then concentrate on these areas until you know where the fish are likely to be when you are fishing.

Learn to use at least two basic lures.

OAK DOWNS FINISH LINE—Veteran jockey Mike Keller of Abita Springs was involved in three close races Sunday at Oak Downs. Top photo shows Keller's mount Turn on the Gas losing by nose to JoAnn Boatwright and Bear Got to Go. In middle, Keller and Jet Import beat Bonnie Star with Boatwright up and Steve Roubon aboard Becky Reba, a close third. At bottom, Keller takes a close win on Ladytwoares with Roubon on Spooky second. (Photo Courtesy Oak Downs)

BWYC Juniors repeat Lipton Trophy win

The crew from host Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Saturday and Sunday won the Junior Lipton trophy for the second year by winning two races and finishing third in the other.

Skippers Matt Stieffell, Peter Merrifield, and Dennis Stieffell compiled 4 1/2 points. Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans was second in the regatta with 5 1/2 points. Southern Skippers Scott Sonnier, Preston Christman, and John Killeen won one race, and finished second and third in the other two.

Pass Christian was third with 12 points. Its skippers were Wendy Erichsen, Chuck Yarborough and Edie Yarborough.

Eleven Gulf Yachting Association member clubs participated in the competition for sailors between the ages of 13 and 17 years of age and number in club-owned Flying Scots.

Bay Waveland has earned the right to host the regatta again next year.

Brownbuilder Nellwynne Holland is working for you in Mississippi

Nellwynne Holland, from George County, is a Mississippi Brownbuilder—one of the men and women of Brown & Root—working for you in Mississippi.

Nellwynne joined Brown & Root in 1979 working as an insulation helper. She has a daughter and lives in Lucedale where they attend the Rock Creek Baptist Church. Nellwynne enjoys playing baseball on the church team and riding horses.

Mississippi Brownbuilders are working for you and thousands of your neighbors. She's helping to build the hardware, such as oil fields and power plants, which will help insure Mississippi's future growth and prosperity.

Because of Brown & Root's policy of hiring locally first, most of our Brownbuilders here are Mississippi natives or longtime residents. Many of them first joined Brown & Root at project personnel offices near their homes. And, Brown & Root hires and promotes solely on the basis of individual ability and merit. Anyone willing and qualified is eligible to work. That way, local communities, counties and the state get maximum benefit from projects on which we work—hundreds of thousands of dollars in payrolls, purchases, savings and taxes.

Common Cause commends vote record of Hancock's senator

Common Cause of Mississippi has released tabulations on seven Senate and three House votes that were taken during the 1980 Mississippi Legislative Session.

According to Ken Autrey, state president for the lobbying organization, "These votes are an indication of legislators' willingness or unwillingness to improve government performance and make the actions of public officials more open and accountable to the voters."

The tabulation includes votes on enacting strong open meetings and public records laws, appropriations for the Mississippi Ethics Commission, abolition of the Mississippi Judicial Council, and regulatory board reform. During the Session, the Legislature failed to pass a public records law or strengthening amendments to the state's 1975 open meetings law.

"While these votes clearly show how the senators and representatives stood on these two bills to open up Mississippi government to public scrutiny, the responsibility for the failure of the Legislature to enact strong open meetings and public records laws rests largely with the House Rules Committee," stated Autrey.

"Our organization has already made these two issues top priority for 1981, and we intend this Fall to work with the authors of this legislation to overcome the resistance of the House leadership on these open government issues," Autrey added.

Common Cause singled out and commended eight senators and five representatives for their efforts during the Session.

They are Senators Howard Dyer, Greenville; Ed Ellington, Jackson; John

Fraiser, Greenwood; Rick Lambert, Hattiesburg; Con Maloney, Jackson; Bob Montgomery, Canton; Theo Smith, Corinth; and Martin Smith, Hancock County; and Representatives Gerald Blessey, Biloxi; Dennis Dollar, Gulfport; Betty Jane Long, Meridian; Don Richardson, Jackson; and John Hampton Stennis, Jackson.

According to Autrey, "at different times during the Session, these legislators stood out in the fight to gain passage of strong legislation to make government more responsive to the citizens of Mississippi."

1980 Mississippi Senate Votes

JUDICIAL REFORM — 1

A parliamentary motion by Sen. Martin Smith (Poplarville) to require the full Senate to vote on SB 2413. SB 2413 was the bill to continue the Miss. Judicial Council. Earlier in the Session, CCMIS had joined a number of other groups in support of a recommendation by the Judicial Council that would have abolished the antiquated justice court system in Mississippi and replaced it with a competent, fulltime Magistrate system. In retaliation for its recommendation, the 430 plus justice court judges across the state led a fight to abolish the Council. Sen. Emerson Stringer (Columbia) was their floor leader in the Senate. The motion by Sen. Smith failed 21-28, thus killing the bill, and therefore the Council. (CC position — YES). The Legislature never debated the merits of the Council's recommendation.

OPEN MEETINGS — 2

Motion by Sen. Charles Ray Nix (Batesville) that the Senate adjourn. Nix made his motion immediately before the full Senate was to vote on the open meetings bill. Clearly it was an attempt to kill the bill. The motion failed 16-31. (CC position — NO). This was the Senate litmus test on open meetings.

OPEN MEETINGS — 3

Final passage of SB 2191, the open meetings bill. It passed 47-4. (CC position — YES). While this bill was not as strong as we would have liked, it would have been an improvement over the present law. We had planned to offer some strengthening amendments on the Senate floor, but before we could, Sen. Bill Minor (Holly Springs) got the Senate to approve a parliamentary measure that prevented consideration of any amendments. So the only vote that was taken occurred on final passage, and that's why the vote is so lopsided in our favor. Vote (2) is a better indication of senators' positions on this issue.

MISS. ETHICS COMMISSION — 4

Motion by Sen. Emerson Stringer (Columbia) to reduce the funding for the Miss. Ethics Commission from the recommended level of $299,363 to $108,000. Sen. Stringer was trying to fund the commission at a wholly inadequate level. Stringer's amendment failed 10-37. (CC position — NO).

MISS. ETHICS COMMISSION — 5

Motion to concur in the report of the conference committee that recommended funding $274,363 for the Miss. Ethics Commission. It passed 37-8, over Sen. Stringer's objections. (CC position — YES).

MISS. ETHICS COMMISSION — 6

Parliamentary motion by Sen. Robert Crook (Ruleville) to kill an attempt by Sen. Stringer to reconsider the earlier vote(s) that appropriated $274,363 to the Ethics Commission. Crook's motion passed 36-10. (CC position — YES). Sen. Stringer was attempting, for the third time, to gut the funding for the Commission.

REGULATORY REFORM — 7

Motion by Sen. Howard Dyer (Greenville) that the Senate reconsider an earlier vote by which the Senate removed a consumer from the Real Estate Commission. This was the only roll call vote we were able to get on the Senate's action to remove consumers from seven state regulatory boards that had either been added on by the full House or in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The earlier vote on Sen. Bill May's motion to remove the consumer had passed (on a voice vote) and now Sen. Dyer was asking for a roll call vote to reconsider that decision. Dyer's motion failed 20-28. (CC position — YES). Those voting against Dyer's motion did not want consumer representation on regulatory boards.

LEGEND FOR THE VOTES

IN LOVING MEMORY OF THELMA ADAM MASTIC Died July 21, 1979 YOU SHOWED US THE WAY

Time has gone on since you left us one year ago today, And yet your presence continues - You're still showing us the way; You taught us how to live, you gave us everything within yourself, You taught us the gift of laughter, The joy of life itself; We wish we could have you with us If only for awhile, For how desperately we miss you, Your love, your warmth, your smile; When lonely or frightened it's still Your name we call, And of all the beautiful things in life, Oh, Mother! You were the most beautiful of all; No one has, nor ever will touch our lives As deeply as you've done, You're still shining in our hearts As brightly as the sun; Thank you for loving, for giving, for sharing, Thank you for teaching, for helping, for caring; Thank you for having that special gift as no other, Thank you for being our wonderful mother; When in eternity we shall be together One day, Maybe that's where we can thank you Fully for showing us the way; Words are inadequate to express What's so very true, And that is, dear Mother, how so Very much we love you. Sadly missed by: Children, mother, husband, grandchildren, brothers, sisters, & family 7-24-pd

1980 Mississippi House Votes

PUBLIC RECORDS — 1

Motion that the House adjourn. This motion was made about 8:00 p.m. on the final day for consideration of House bills that had passed a committee. A couple of weeks prior, the House Judiciary "B" Committee had unanimously approved HB 591 that would have established a statewide public records law. When the motion was made, the House had not yet begun debate on HB 591. The motion was made in order to get the House to adjourn before getting to HB 591, thereby killing the bill. This motion failed 55-57. (CC position — NO)

PUBLIC RECORDS — 2

Motion that the House adjourn. This motion was made about twenty minutes after the previous vote (1) above. The House had about five bills to go before beginning debate on the public records bill; and again, the motion was made attempting to kill the bill by getting the House to adjourn. This motion passed 58-57, thus killing any chance for a public records law to be enacted during the 1980 Session. (CC position — NO)

MISS. ETHICS COMMISSION — 3

Motion by Rep. Ed Perry (Oxford) to concur in the report of the conference committee that recommended funding $274,383 for the Mississippi Ethics Commission. It passed 100-18. (CC position — YES) The Ethics Commission's position was that $272,383 was the minimum level of funding that it would need to adequately enforce the ethics law that was passed in 1979. Those voting against the report wanted a smaller appropriation.

Summer squash popular, valuable home and commercial garden item

A few plants of summer squash can turn out valuable food like a production line. In summer's heat, each plant can produce two to three squash per week for eight to 12 weeks, says Dr. Milo Burnham, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service horticulturist.

"A single plant can produce 16 to 36 fruits averaging one-half pound each. At 40 cents per pound, you are eating $3.20 to $7.20 in squash per plant each season. That's up to 80 cents per square foot," says Dr. Burnham.

But even experienced gardeners plant too much squash. Three or four hills of two plants each are plenty for the average family. Even one or two too many squash plants can force you into harvesting fruits at baby sizes. This isn't efficient, he points out.

With the right number of squash plants in your garden, you must program your production more carefully. One way to increase the value is to force vines to produce before the midsummer glut slices squash prices.

"Increased heat, improved drainage, increased carbon dioxide and optimized levels of plant nutrition can work together to give you squash two weeks before your neighbor," he says.

For warmer, better-drained soil, start by making hills or low mounds. Dump four buckets of sand and manure in a pile, dig it in and level off a hill about the diameter of a garbage can lid. The soil within this raised area will warm faster and drain better. Also, the mound will keep your feet off the area where squash roots are concentrated. Compaction from your weight can squash the air and life out of soil.

Increased levels of carbon dioxide and heat early in the season can hasten maturity. Set the stage by incorporating organic matter and sand. Then, make hoods or canopies by stretching clear plastic over arches or tripods of wire or wood.

The canopies trap and concentrate heat and carbon dioxide. Open a little chimney in the top of the canopies each morning to prevent your plants from cooking. Don't forget to roll or pin up the edges of the canopy slightly to admit bees for pollinating the blossoms.

Maximize squash value by harvesting fruit at larger sizes. Because modern squash hybrids are slow to develop tough seeds and hard skin, you don't need to harvest small fruits.

Wait until they weigh one to two pounds, but no longer. Leaving large fruits on the vine will prevent new fruits from forming.

Summer squash is just as popular as it is valuable. Use squash for salads, finger foods and dips, he suggests. Freeze and store surplus squash or use it in numerous dishes from soups to bread.
